The case against Dahms was dismissed by the magistrate, as he considered the evidence not conclusive. The two Kivillos were found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 each and costs and damages amounting to about $15 each. Fifteen witnesses were heard on the case, which was prosecuted by C. H. Russell, with B. D. Howatt acting for the defendants.

Edward Fontaine of Battle Lake appeared before R. M. Angus, police magistrate, here Wednesday, on a charge of false pretenses and was sentenced to six months hard labor at Fort Saskatchewan. The accused made an attempt to obtain $150 from the account of Chris. Boumgard at the Bank of Montreal in Wetaskiwin by sending in an order to the bank purported to be signed by Boumgard, instructing the bank to send this amount to Edward Fontaine. The fraud was detected and the money was not sent. Fontaine was arrested by Const. Cough of the R.C.M.P., and brought to Wetaskiwin, where he was tried and convicted.

Kiwanis Club Addressed by Local Members

At the weekly luncheon of the Wetaskiwin Kiwanis Club on Tuesday evening, Kiwanians H. R. French and Louis Ragozin of the local club were the principal speakers. The former related some of his experiences on his recent trip to the coast and referred to having seen several nice moose and possibly twenty-five deer in the mountains. Near Glacier the train passed through the tunnel of a snow slide about 1500 feet long and 57 feet high. At Vancouver he met several former Wetaskiwinites, including Mr. and Mrs. Archie Roulstone, Wes Gould and Dr. McKay. The voyage from Vancouver to Victoria was quite rough. He briefly described Rest Haven Sanitarium, where Mrs. French is staying, and thought Victoria would be a fine place to live if one had a little money. A. E. Maggs was looking well, although he had spent several months recently in the sanitarium. He also spoke of having had an interesting conversation with a real Communist who gave him literature and told him how some of the Communist teachings were being "put across" in Canada.

Mr. Ragozin, who was born in Russia and resided there until a young man, spoke of the conditions in that country as he remembered them when he left about twenty-seven years ago. He vividly described the average peasants' homes, their stoves and their mode of living. Beds and springs were unknown and they slept on the stoves in the winter time. The houses would only have three or four rooms and in the spring calves, lambs and setting hens would be kept in the same rooms with the family, which was usually large. In a town of 7,000, where he lived, there was no water fit to drink no sewers, no sidewalks, no electrical advantages, or telephones, hence the sanitation was terrible. There were no hospitals and very few doctors. The schools were meagre and up to about grade VI, was taught. The soil was filled with very crude implements. Mr. Ragozin very interestingly described the costumes worn by the peasants, the marriage customs and the process of making oil from seeds. Of the 160,000,000 population, about 6,000,000 are Jews. He also gave the meaning of some of the Russian words. Bolsheviki means a man of the majority; Soviet is the council or ruling party, and Communist refers to Socialism.

LARGEST AIRSHIP HIT BY LIGHTNING; 73 LIVES LOST

Washington, April 4.—The navy reported to President Roosevelt early today that the Akron was caught in a storm and probably hit by lightning, caught fire and crashed at 12:30 a.m.

New York, April 4.—The U.S.S. Akron, largest airship ever flown, crashed at sea off the Jersey coast, early this morning with the probable loss of 73 lives.

This afternoon the little navy blimp J-3, searching for the Akron wreck, also fell in the sea with its crew of seven, five of whom were rescued. Members of the Akron crew stuck valiantly to their posts, with perfect discipline through a violent electrical storm the great ship could not ride. Four men were rescued. One of these died.

The Akron sighted the storm that doomed it at 8:45 p.m. last night, 30 miles south of Philadelphia. It proceeded on an east and northeast course through a light night and over a fog that obscured the ground.

Lieut.-Commr. H. V. Wiley, rescued, second in command, reported the ship was at that time in good static condition. He said the sea was heavy. At 10 p.m. the Akron reached the Jersey shore and at Barnegat Light was surrounded by lightning. The ship began to descend rapidly from its flying altitude of 1,600 feet as lightning enveloped it. Three minutes later seemed to be in centre of storm. Ship began to shift about violently. Called all hands. Ship commenced to descend. Stern inclined downward. Dropped ballast. Rudder control carried away. Descent continued to water. Ship demolished upon impact.

Hon. Frank Oliver, Noted Pioneer, Died Suddenly

Ottawa, April 1.—Western Canada today mourns the death of one of its most picturesque figures, and Canada as a whole mourns the passing of a faithful and distinguished son.

Few men in Canada have crammed more of activity, adventure and genuine service into their lives than Hon. Frank Oliver, who died last night.

Death came suddenly for the 80-year-old pioneer, publisher and statesman. Up until a few days ago, when he suffered a chill, he had been carrying on his work as special officer on grade separation for the board of railway commissioners. He was taken to hospital yesterday morning and died early last night.

His passing severs one of the few remaining links with the days of the covered wagon on the Canadian prairie. If ever there was a pioneer of the west it was Mr. Oliver. He pitched his tent on where Edmonton now stands and grew up with the city.

As a printer, merchant, editor, publisher, member of Parliament, minister of the crown and railway commissioner, Mr. Oliver's career was wrapped up in the life and growth of Western Canada.

Before the Canadian Pacific Railway had yet spanned the prairie, Mr. Oliver set out to lay the foundations of his career on the site of what is now Edmonton.

From the time when he first freighted into Edmonton in 1876 to his death Frank Oliver was one of the big men of the prairies. The sponsor of much of the early legislation of the old North West Territories, he also exercised a guiding influence in the development of the west while ministers of the interior in the Laurier administration. His long career as editor and publisher of the Edmonton Bulletin would furnish the basis of a journalistic romance.

Edmonton, April 4.—All Edmonton mourned Tuesday when the funeral of its best known citizen—the west's greatest champion—Hon. Frank Oliver—was held. Following a simple but impressive service in First Presbyterian church at 2:30 p.m., a lengthy procession travelled to Edmonton cemetery, where burial took place in the family plot. Rev. A. R. Osborn pronounced the 1st earthly rites for the beloved pioneer, statesman and publisher. There were four massed choirs.

Many came from outside points in the province and many gray-haired pioneers were noticed in the crowded church. Members of the Alberta legislature and the city council attended in bodies. Many of Edmonton's places of business were closed.

The body of Mr. Oliver was accompanied by Hon. T. G. Norris, former premier of Manitoba, member of the Board of Railway Commissioners, and life-long friend, and Mrs. Allan Krefer, a daughter, arrived from Ottawa Tuesday morning.

After a brief private service in the family residence, the body was taken to First Presbyterian church. An almost continuous queue of mourners passed the bier for a last look at a man they loved and respected. A detail of scarlet clad Royal Canadian Mounted Police stood at attention at either end of the coffin.

The board of railway commissioners opened a sitting in Edmonton on Wednesday, with a claim for compensation for coal mining rights under a railway as one of its most important cases.

Fertile Valley Council and Hospital Board Confer

On April 4th, a representation of the Municipal Council of the M.D. of Fertile Valley, composed of Councillors Stretch and Zimmerman with Secretary-Treasurer P. MacDonald, met a committee appointed by the Wetaskiwin Community Hospital Board composed of Chairman A. A. Ellis, Mayor Torsen and Messrs. Ballhorn, Strohschein and Hanson.

The meeting took place in the hospital and was for the purpose of arriving at a settlement of old accounts owing by residents of the M.D. of Fertile Valley to the hospital, also to discuss a plan whereby hospitalization would be provided for residents of M.D. of Fertile Valley.

The representatives of the M.D. of Fertile Valley were given the opportunity of inspecting the hospital and expressed appreciation of the facilities provided.

Chairman Ellis opened the meeting and offered on behalf of the Board, to provide hospitalization for taxpayers of the M.D. of Fertile Valley at the same rates enjoyed by our taxpayers, stipulating that all accounts incurred be guaranteed by the M.D. of Fertile Valley and settlement be made at a stated time or times each year.

Chairman Ellis also offered a contract for indigents at $2.00 per day, operating room and dressings, etc., extra. Non-taxpaying residents would be expected to pay in advance or procure an order from their Secretary.

These plans were discussed and it was agreed would be placed before the next Council meeting of the M.D. of Fertile Valley.

HIGH LIGHTS IN ALBERTA LEGISLATURE DURING WEEK

—Estimates of $12,000,000 were passed Thursday, of which $7,159,562 was for public debt and $3,035,720 for the government telephone system.—A deficit of between $500,000 and $1,000,000 on telephone operations for the fiscal year just ended was announced.—Appropriations, for highways construction and maintenance, were passed at $1,585,293, a decrease of $448,458 from last year.

M. AMUNDSEN
Railway St. E. WetaskiwinPrimary Cause of Depression

A recent address by Professor Gilbert B. Jackson, of the Department of Economics of the University of Toronto, delivered before the Empire Club of Toronto, has attracted wide attention throughout Canada, and deservedly so. It has been quoted on the floor of Parliament, and has been made the text of countless newspaper articles. Yet it dealt with a very simple subject, a subject as old as the human race—selfishness.

Thousands of sermons have been preached on this subject, books and dramas without number have been written with selfishness as the central theme, the law courts have been filled with cases arising out of selfishness, sorrow and trouble of all kinds have sprung from it all down through the ages. Nevertheless, Professor Jackson's address commands an immediate and large audience today because he deals with the all prevailing world depression as having its basic cause in just this one thing—selfishness. And who is there who will say he is wrong?

Professor Jackson is an economist. He deals with cold facts and still colder figures. He is concerned with the actualities of life, with things material to our human well-being. But when he has analyzed all the factors, and sifted all the facts, and studied all the evidence pro and con relative to the world economic depression, he is forced to the conclusion that the basic trouble is, after all, not some man-made institution or system like banking or tariffs, that it is not over-production or under-production, but a condition of mind and heart of the average individual—his selfishness, avarice and greed, of which all these other things are but the natural and inevitable outcome.

So, Professor Jackson stressed the point that economic betterment must come primarily from a change of heart in the individual rather than merely by tricks of economic readjustment; from proposals that go deep into the heart of man and begin with his own conscience. "Looking back on the past four years I wonder," he said, "that the realization of these things has not brought forth a new religious movement."

It is not a new religious movement that is called for or necessary, but action based upon acceptance of the fundamentals of Christian religion. The sermon on the Mount contains the whole and complete formula for the cure of the present depression, and the prevention of any depression in the future. It is not the formula of Capitalism, nor Socialism, nor Communism. It is the formula of the Golden Rule, acceptance and application of the principle of doing unto others as we would that others should do unto us.

What are these tariff barriers erected by all nations but an outward expression of the narrow nationalistic sentiments of individuals, and narrow nationalism is the outcome of the selfishness and greed of individuals. Tariffs are erected for the openly avowed purpose of selfishly promoting our own individual and national interests at the expense of loss and suffering by other individuals and nations. Selfishness and greed is the mainspring of such actions.

And what is true of tariffs as an instrument of economic warfare between nations, applies with equal truth and force to scores of other man-devised and mad-made methods, schemes and systems, conceived in selfishness, first of the individual, and through the individual to the community, the nation, and the world. And the selfishness and greed of the individual is merely more openly expressed and multiplied when it takes the form of the selfishness of classes, communities and nations.

At the present time it is considered the popular thing to denounce the so-called "vested interests" as the embodiment of all the selfishness and greed in the world, and to declare because one class acts from these undesirable and evil motives, other classes should unite in order to act from exactly the same motives. Two wrongs do not and never did make a right, and the swing of the pendulum from one wrong to another wrong will remedy nothing, but only provide still more trouble, further greed, a greater growth of selfishness.

Those who today control finance and industry under the prevailing system have much to account for. They have been greedy and selfish. They must and will be made to mend their ways, even if their hearts and desires remain unchanged. But the remedial method to be employed to that end is not to meet greed with greed, to oppose selfishness with more selfishness, to organize one set of interests to wage war on another and opposing set of interests.

All greed and selfishness does not arise from greed for wealth or property. There is the greed for position, for power, for domination, for honors, for social distinction, for something, almost anything, the other fellow has and we have not. And how few individuals striving for these things are animated solely by a desire to possess and use them unselfishly for the benefit of others?

Professor Jackson is right, unquestionably so, when he declares that economic betterment must come primarily from a change of heart in the individual, and that word "individual" is all inclusive; it means the banker, the mortgage and loan executive, the railway head, the politician, the manufacturer, the merchant, the farmer—all of these, but it also includes the clerk, the artisan, the farm hand, the laborer. Mankind is in one lifeboat in the storm of this depression. They must pull together on the oars in unison, not at cross purposes. It is a case of one for all and all for one.

To change the metaphor, this is a time for building up, not tearing down. It is a time to sink all selfishness for the common good. The man in debt must receive generous treatment and ample assistance at the hands of his creditors; equally so the creditor is entitled to and must receive proper recognition of his rights by the man who is indebted to him. The employer must make sacrifices in the interests of his employees; the employees must do likewise to help their employer.

In this economic crisis there is need for a great revival of that spirit of sacrifice and service generated by the crisis of the Great War, the subordination of self in a complete readiness to assist one another in meeting and solving their problems in the unselfish spirit of the Golden Rule—Exchange.

As Seen From the Gallery of the Alberta Legislature

The investigation into the construction of roads by the Department of Public Works, of which Hon. J. L. McPherson is the minister, is still in progress. When W. R. Howson, the Liberal leader, made his charges on the floor of the house two weeks ago some members of the C.C.F. and U.F.A. movement did not seem to take the matter seriously and thought that the whole matter would be disposed of within a day or two of the

JUBILEE OF UPPER CANADA'S RUBBER INDUSTRY

Marking a milestone in Canadian industrial activity, His Excellency, the Earl of Bessborough, commemorated the 50th anniversary of the founding of the rubber industry in Upper Canada when he unveiled a bronze plaque on the original factory building of Gutta Percha & Rubber Limited, Toronto. An all-Canadian organization with 14 Canadian branches and 2,000 employees on its payrolls throughout the Dominion, Gutta Percha & Rubber Limited also export to all parts of the globe.

The Governor-General, on a tour if the factories saw tires, tubes, sports shoes, belting, hose, gum boots, mats' flooring and many other Canadian products of rubber in process of manufacture.

opening of the investigation, but as the investigation has progressed they have changed their minds and instead of a two-day investigation it has gone on for two weeks, and Mr. Howson has drawn from contractors, engineers and witnesses sufficient evidence to warrant the whole investigation being continued by a body like a royal commission which would give the public the advantage of all the facts which would be brought out by such an investigating body.

The present committee, which is the public accounts committee, consists of a large majority of U.F.A. and C.C.F. members who appear to be more concerned with covering up the mistakes of their own U.F.A. Government than they are in assisting to bring out the real facts to the surface. So far the U.F.A. members of the committee have not shown a disposition to assist in bringing out the facts.

Mr. Howson has brought out in evidence so far that contracts involving thousands of dollars have been let without competitive bid. He has brought out in evidence from a paid engineer of the government that they paid $20 per acre for say the work which the farmers along the road considered ridiculous.

He has brought out in evidence through a paid engineer of the government that on one of the jobs involving the expenditure of a large amount of money no preliminary records were kept, but that the records were kept by the contractor on the job.

He has brought out in evidence from one of the time-keepers that highway workers on force accounts were charged as being paid thirty cents an hour and the government was charged forty cents, which would indicate a spread of 33 1/3 per cent.

He has brought out in evidence through one of the witnesses that yards of material were paid for which never went on the road.

He has brought out in evidence that no authorization was given for some contract extras.

The amount of information which poured in to Mr. Howson from all parts of the province after the investigation had proceeded for one week led Mr. Howson to the position where he believed that the public from one end of the province to the other was becoming thoroughly aroused, and that the investigation should be continued by a body with wider powers.

COMMENT ON CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Sir:
I was amused by the letter written by Mrs. C. S. Chapin, who appears to be so much in love with the country to the South of us that it is a wonder she has remained in Canada 20 years.

Mrs. Chapin's ideas with regard to many things verge on the grotesque. For instance, she credits America with the invention of the steam engine and the motor car. For her enlightenment I pass along the information that the first attempt to make use of steam for the development of power was made by Hero of Alexandria 130 B.C. and further developed by Giovanni della Porta in the 17th century. In 1655 the Marquis of Worcester was credited with the invention of a steam engine for pumping water. Then came Savery in 1698 whose engine was improved by Thomas Newcomen and John Cowley who introduced the piston and this idea was borrowed from a Frenchman, Denis Papin. Then, of course, the greatest single step forward in the development of steam power was made by James Watt, a Scotsman of Glenock in 1769. Neither are we indebted to the United States for the invention and early development of the internal combustion engine which made the automobile possible. The first step in this line was taken by Abbe Hauiteville, and the Dutch mathematician Christian Huygens in 1680. An Englishman named Barker took a patent out a hundred years later. The use of coal gas in an engine was suggested by a Frenchman Philippe Lebon a little later; but it was not until another Frenchman developed a practical engine that real progress was made in this field in France and England and later in the United States.

With regard to political and social economy, we Canadians have little, if anything to learn from our neighbors to the South. In fact, the alarming progress they have made in some directions we must strenuously avoid. Among these are sound banking under which there has been 10,000 bank failures in ten years. Gangster rule in the larger cities and the record of the States for the largest per capita rate of murders and of suicides.

We must also avoid a smug sense of self sufficiency and a tendency to brag which is so highly developed in our neighbors, to an extent that has rendered them open to the charge of bluntness and bombast. Personally, I have the greatest admiration for many estimable American citizens whom I know, but may the Lord save us from those parochial Americans who do not know any better than to lay claim to every achievement and virtue, because of an abysmal ignorance of all the world outside of the boundaries of the United States.

Yours truly,

J. H. HODSON.

More than 400 farmers caused postponement of the auction sale of farm stock and implements on the farm of Thomas Dillon, near Petrolia, Ont. Three implements valued at $200 were bid in at 96 cents, and a cow worth $20 brought only 30 cents. Excitement was high and arguments frequent during the sale. Due to the small bids, the bailiff, Jerry Taylor, called the sale off.

Local sales were some 4,000 barrels greater than in January.

Where Alberta University Graduates Are Found

Permanency of the value of the University of Alberta to the cultural and professional life of the province is illustrated by a report showing the present residences of university graduates. Total students graduated since the founding of the university 25 years ago is 2,166. Only 123 of these are permanently resident in the United States, a total of 1,356 of the graduates are resident in the province, 359 reside in other provinces, while 37 are outside the North American continent.

Alberta School Statistics
A total of 3,395 school districts with 5,729 rooms, were in operation in 1932 according to the annual statistical report of the provincial department of education. The total enrolment in these schools was 170,795. There were 5,844 teachers employed. The enrolment in the 59 city and town schools was 56,744, while in 17 separate schools there were 5,831 pupils and 42,643 in other graded schools. In 646 consolidated schools there were 7,193 pupils. The record of attendance for all schools was 90.02% of the monthly enrolment. The average number of days for which the schools kept open was 195, while 96.7% of the schools kept open for more than 160 days. The interesting feature of the report is the fact that since 1912 the percentage of pupils in grades 7 to 12 has increased from 14.66 to 32.42%.

THE PROVINCIAL INCOME TAX

Only two general provincial taxes on gasoline and on income—have been brought into effect in Alberta since the present government assumed control in 1921, twelve years ago. The gasoline tax is now up to six cents per imperial gallon, while in a number of states in the union it runs five, six and seven cents per wine gallon, one-fifth, say, smaller than the imperial. Some other provinces had five cents per gallon in 1932, which was Alberta's rate up to this year.

The income tax in Alberta is lower than in any other western province. The opposition parties, in the legislature made an onslaught on the "filling fee" of three dollars as it was contemptuously called, or base tax, which the Income Tax Act and the income tax schedule calls it. This $3 the income tax contributor has to pay whether he has ten cents or $1,000. The name "filling fee" is most unfortunate, and the government members deserve all the trouble they have brought upon themselves for allowing that name to become current. The "filling fee" or base tax of three dollars paid by, possibly, hundreds of those whose additional tax under the scale is not over three dollars, is bound to cause the antagonism of those who pay the smaller amounts of tax, if they can be induced to believe that it is a fee paid to some outside officer or to the department for the registration of the individual income tax schedule and tax. Instead, if the contributor knew that the three dollars was a base tax, as it is called in the Act and in the schedule, and is part of the income tax, and has no purpose or office as a filling fee, they would know where they were at, whether they liked it or not.

Single men in receipt for the year of an income of $750 or under, and married men in receipt of an income for the year of $1,500 or under, pay no provincial income tax, whether base tax or scale tax. Over these amounts, in both cases exemptions being allowed for dependents, etc., the base tax of $3 is paid, and a scale tax rising with the amount of income. The province makes a minimum or base tax of three dollars to all over the minimum of $750 and $1,500, and then the tax scales up on incomes over that amount. The citizens in receipt of incomes below the set minimum, whether townspeople or farmers, wage earners or other receivers of income, pay no income tax of any kind to the province. It is only those over the minimum who pay the base rate and the scale rate. There is no "filling fee", and that name has no license in the business; the $3.00 is a base rate, as it is called in the Act and in the schedule.

It was to be expected that the Conservatives and Liberals in the Legislature should take advantage of this sore spot to discredit the government—that's the party's game—but the Labor members had no right to lend themselves to oppose a reasonable provincial income tax base, as such is necessary. The higher-paid wage-earners through the province should pay a fair tax on amounts over the minimums and they surely cannot complain of the $3 base. If such has to be levied, it is such a narrow gauge policy on the part of the union man, the better-paid man that is apt to estrange from the Labor cause the sympathy of their neighbors of all duties and incomes.

The provincial income tax in Alberta, remember, is lower than that in any other western province.—Red Deer Advocate.

A man walked reluctantly into a hat store. "I just lost a bet," he said, "and I want to get a soft hat."

The saleslman, selecting a hat from the shelf behind him, handed it to the prospective purchaser with the remark: "This is the softest hat we have."

The customer gazed at it speculatively. "What I want," he said reluctantly, "is something a little more tender. I've got to eat it."

THE PRICE OF A NEWSPAPER.

A valued subscriber to The Globe has raised a point which, perhaps, is in the minds of many people when he asked why the price of newspapers remain the same as before the drop in general price levels.

Few readers realize that the small amount asked for a copy of a daily paper bears no relation to the cost of producing it. It is merely a nominal sum, which, in the case of a paper like The Globe, does not pay for the cost of the white paper used. It is unnecessary to refer to the cost of handling, delivery and postage, or to the fact that it carries news costing thousands of dollars to collect.

The Smiley Reformer recently illustrated the difficulties under which newspapers in general are operated by recalling weeklies which have ceased publication and others which have reduced their size. "Such instances as these," it comments, "should go far towards dispelling the impression that newspapers suffer less from the depression than the average business. As the Bowmanville Statesman remarks, this false impression may be due to the high standards being maintained by the newspapers to create that optimistic spirit so characteristic of editors. The fact is that the publishing business is among the hardest hit."

Despite the fall in prices all around, the newspaper is still the cheapest thing on the market.—Toronto Globe.

CALGARY LABOR M.L.A. SUEED BY LOCAL PRINTER

Claiming that Alderman Fred J. White, M.L.A., of Calgary, received sums of money totalling $20,000 from the provincial government printing contracts, Joseph Guest, agent of Calgary, filed suit in the supreme court Saturday.

The plaintiff claims that the defendant received this money while a member of the legislature, contrary to sections 11 and 18 of Chapter 1. Revised Statutes of Alberta.

He is therefore seeking damages to the extent of $200 for every day that the defendant occupied his seat in the legislature during 1932.

Both defendant and plaintiff are members of the Calgary Typographical Union.

A social gathering was held in the community hall Tuesday evening to bid farewell to Miss Jaques who is leaving next week for her home in England after two years in the mission field here. A representative crowd turned out, and C. S. Bear acted as chairman. Games and cards were played until about eleven o'clock when a program of music and songs were rendered and lunch was served, after which the Rev. Arthur Elliott, Vicar of St. John's on behalf of those assembled, thanked Miss Jaques for her much appreciated services while at Millet, and stressed the valuable work she had done. Mr. Heslop followed and presented on behalf of the parish, a beautifully worked bedspread made by the ladies of the church and others, and an album with photos and snaps. Miss Jaques feelingly replied and said she hoped the good work started here in the church would be continued, and although she might never be able to return, her thoughts would always turn back to the happy times spent in Millet and district.

On Wednesday, March 29, friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Zilkie to give them a surprise farewell party on the last evening at their home in the Millet district. HOUSE STUDIES SCHOOL LANDS, CROP PAYMENTS

Edmonton, April 3.—Amendments to the Debt Adjustment Act, with special reference to crop share payments on mortgages occupied the attention of the legislative agricultural committee on Monday.

Sitting under the chairmanship of A. B. Claypool, U.F.A., Didsbury, the committee heard various phases of the debt adjustment question. George H. Webster, Liberal, Calgary, submitted that for the majority of farmers in this province there was no need of going under the debt adjustment provisions. He considered this act would be abused and that it was detrimental to the best interests of the province.

Milton C. McKee, U.F.A., Lac Ste. Anne, contended that if a third share was taken out first, the farmer would be crippled. Agriculture could not carry on with one-third of the crop taken out as a starter. The mortgage companies should be satisfied with one-third of the net crop, he said. W. H. Shield, U.F.A., Macleod, favored a one-quarter share of the crop after threshing was taken out.

D. Tighe, K.C., representing the mortgage companies, objected to the principle of the new act. He thought the old one was working out satisfactorily. It was unfair that the companies should get only one-quarter. The Crop Payments Act was misunderstood. In the case of one company the company got nothing, while in 50 per cent of the cases only 5 per cent of the mortgage was obtained. Mr. Tighe submitted that in only 5 per cent of foreclosures does the farmer actually lose his land. The committee then dealt with school lands sales.

John Harvie, deputy minister of lands and mines, stated that $50,495,855 represented the arrears in school lands accounts of six provinces, including interest. There had been practically no interest paid since 1927.

Of the total owing, $2,626,844 was in principal and $2,418,416 was in interest. In all 3944 sales had been made.

There was, said Mr. Harvie, about one-half of one per cent of arrears coming in. In all 1,578,233 acres of school lands had been sold since the beginning of such sale. In some cases the land had been bought as high as $250 an acre. There had been no school lands sale since the province took over the natural resources.

Gross sales amounted to $22,734,000 less than 50 per cent of the amount due had been collected. Some purchasers had lived up to their contracts and others had not.

Premier J. E. Brownlee said it was impossible to lay down any general rule. Merits of each case would govern its disposition. An effort would be made this year to use the land. The Canadian Pacific Railway gave a bonus to debtors who pay one-third of the crop by giving credit for an equal amount on arrears.

Hon. R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer, said that many wanted a lease longer than a yearly basis, and he suggested six years.

Mr. Shields said purchasers could not pay on one-third of the crop. It should be made one-quarter.

stock show. Miss Thorsen visited for a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Shantz, in the Cherry Grove district.

WETASKIWIN U.F.A.
DEBATING LEAGUE

A well-attended debate was held at Hillside school on Friday evening, March 31st, when Patience Local clashed with Hillside on the subject "Resolved that the Union of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba into one province would be in the best interests of their people."

Patience, who upheld the affirmative, was represented by H. Wain, Russell Elder and G. Bulman, and Hillside by Mrs. Harvey, Jas. Hoskins and J. Harvey.

After an interesting debate, Hillside received the decision by a judges' vote of 2 to 1. Judges: Mrs. Ross, Mrs. H. Marr, G. L. Pritchard.

The final debate for the championship of the League for 1933-34 will be held in the U.F.A. hall, Wetaskiwin, on Thursday, April 13th, at 8:30 p.m. The locals competing in the final this year are Nashville for the eastern division and Patience for the western. The subject for the final debate will be: "Resolved that the program of the C.C.F. offers the solution of our present economic difficulties." Patience is taking the affirmative and an interesting debate is expected.

The public are heartily invited to attend. Admission free. Collection will be taken to help defray expenses of the league.

PENRON PARK

Mr. Cortez Lucas had a successful business trip to the Lake last week. The Pickard youngsters went to Edmonton Spring Show Sunday night. We hear that Lloyd won the judging contest.

The next meeting of the Y.P.C. will be held at Blake Johnson's.

SEEDING TIME WILL SOON BE HERE

Spring is in the air in the northern hemisphere, and winter wheat is greening in many areas. The vast bulk of wheat produced in the west is winter wheat, and when spring comes around fields are examined with great care to see how the plants withstood the vicissitudes of the winter weather. Springtime also brings menace to the young wheat as periods of alternate freezing and thawing is extremely harmful to the plant.

Little indication of damage has appeared in Europe although there is uneasiness in Germany over the possible effects of hard January weather. But the continental crop and the whole seems to have wintered well.

In Russia internal trouble and confusion have disrupted well-laid plans but the Soviet government is determined to get in all the spring wheat that it can. Winter wheat comprises about one-third of Russia's total wheat acreage and sowings were down last fall. Seed for spring sowings is scarce, farm machinery in a poor state of repair, the peasants are disheartened and on the whole things are not conducive to the seeding of a large area in a competent manner.

The United States' crop is the question mark of the wheat situation. Reports of damage have been wintered into the ears of the world all winter. Now the world is waiting to see just how bad the damage has been.

In the southern hemisphere the Argentinean and Australian farmers are preparing for the sowing of their crops for next harvest. In both countries the wheat raised is winter wheat, but summer here is winter down there. There is little indication of acreage reduction in either country.

It will not be long before seeding starts in the great western spring wheat belt of Canada and in the spring wheat area of the United States. There will not be much reduction of acreage in the United States—about 2 per cent, according to the "intentions to plant" report, but this is possibly due to an anticipated large winter kill and reseeded where possible, with spring wheat.

It is hard to say just what Western Canadian wheat farmers will do in the way of decreasing wheat acreage this spring. An agricultural authority in Alberta informs the writer that there will possibly be an 8 per cent reduction in the wheat area in this province where 3,200,000 acres were sown last year. But a great deal depends on spring weather conditions. A favorable spring will increase the acreage. There seems to be a considerable movement to the farms, too, as at many points in the province applications to rent land have been vastly greater than the supply.—The Budget.

PROVINCIAL TELEPHONE SHORTAGE MAY REACH TOTAL OF $1,000,000

Edmonton, March 31.—Operations of the provincial telephone department for the fiscal year ending Friday would result in a deficit of between $800,000 and $1,000,000, it was stated by Premier Brownlee in the legislature Thursday night.

Estimates for the 1933-34 fiscal year, requiring a total appropriation of $2,885,720, were passed by the house anticipating a balanced budget for this public utility, compared with the deficit of $500,000 it estimated for the last fiscal year.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

How To Clean a Straw Hat

Until you have tried this easy method you really can't realize how simple it is to make a soiled straw hat look like new.

Brush all the dust out of it, then go all over it with damp corn-meal, rubbing it in well. Next apply dry meal, work thoroughly into the straw and leave it on for some hours. Brush out the meal and wash freely with peroxide of hydrogen. Let it dry in the shade.

COOKING HINTS

YOUNG PEOPLE FACING LIFE "HOLDING NOTHING"

Galt, Ont., April 3.—One of the greatest tragedies of the depression in his view, William Irvine, member of the house of commons for Wetaskiwin, told a meeting of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation here Saturday night, was the spectacle of armies of young persons leaving school to discover "life held nothing for them."

Mr. Irvine said recovery from the depression in Canada could come only through some method never before tried in this country. He declared capitalism was suffering from a chronic, progressive disease from which it would die, and that credit stimulation and augmentation of national debts would only lengthen the time before its death.

He declared an international revolution was needed to save the world and hold no hope for the world economic conference.

In future the band will be known as The Wetaskiwin Post Canadian Legion Band, and it is the desire of the Legion to exert every effort to maintain the high standard which has been achieved.

COMMUNICATION

[We do not necessarily endorse the sentiments advanced by this or any other correspondent under this heading.-Ed.]

The Federated Women's Institutes of Canada in an effort to stand behind their motto "For Home and Country" have set aside the first week in April as Home Economics Week.

May I suggest in this connection that we study the "Shoppers Creed" which has been adopted by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in the United States.

A "Shoppers Creed" promulgated as a contribution to sound relations between business interests and the consumer was adopted by the General Federation of Women's Clubs on January 11, according to the chairman of the Division of Industry of the Federation. The Federation points out that the creed, "if adhered to, will save a vast amount of money yearly and result in better values to the consumer." The creed is as follows:

"I believe that the women, through control of a large share of the family budget, exerts a vital influence upon today's economic order.

"Therefore, I hold it my duty to help make this influence constructive; to govern my buying so that waste will be reduced and the greatest good to all realized from my expenditures.

"I believe that, as measures of true economy, I should:

"Make known my merchandise needs and preferences in advance whenever the opportunity is presented;

"Remember that cheapness in itself is not always a bargain, and consider suitability and durability as well as price; avoid merchandise known to be produced under unfair competitive conditions, such as sweat shop or prison made goods;

"Be reasonable in my demands for service, such as credit, alterations and deliveries;

"Refrain from returning merchandise unless the goods or the store is at fault;

"This is my Creed. I believe in it; I shall support it."

The creed is based on the Wise Spending Campaign conducted by the Federation last year, with the co-operation of the Department of Commerce. In this program the women undertook to study their opportunities to improve consumer-dealer relations particularly with reference to problems of returned merchandise, retail delivery, credit, advertising, and selection of desired merchandise.

The weather during the past week has been quite springlike and the snow is rapidly disappearing Monday was a very disagreeable day, however, when soft snow fell most of the day and was driven by a strong wind from the north-west.

Waste Given

Many billions of dollars are wasted each year the Federation points out in a leaflet containing the creed and discussing the important part which individual consumers play in national prosperity, for the following causes: (1) A high percentage of merchandise is returned to retail stores without real cause for complaint; (2) Abuse of credit privileges occurs too frequently; (3) More costly delivery service than is necessary is frequently demanded; (4) Advertising that is poorly planned fails to be of mutual advantage to store and customer; and (5) A great value of merchandise is produced that is undesired because it is becoming increasingly difficult to anticipate consumer preference. "Business interests, manufacturers, employees of factories and consumers in general all suffer as a result of these un-economic practices" it is pointed out. In an attempt to alleviate this condition the Division of Industry of the Federation devised the list of shopping principles contained in the creed.

Canadian Garden Service

(By Gordon Lindsay Smith)

Easily Grown Flowers

For the benefit of those who are gardening for the first time a dozen of the easiest flowers will be described. Along borders and in front of beds it is best to have something tiny and one of the very best for this purpose is Alyssum. This grows a few inches high and when once started defies drought, weeds and general neglect. It bears a profusion of tiny white flowers, beautifully scented. When seed pods start to appear the plant can be sheared back an inch or so with clippers or even a lawn mower and in ten days another crop of flowers will start to appear. Like the poppy the seeds are very fine and to insure thin, even planting, it is well to mix with a little dry sand and sow the mixture. Another attractive dwarf flower and just as easily grown is the portulaca. This is a wonderful thing for hot, dry corners. The waxy flowers come in several bright colors. A little larger and also a continuous bloomer is the Calendula or pot Marigold. The plant is bushy and reaches a height of eight to twelve inches. Foliage is dark green and the large flowers are orange and yellow. The California Poppy is a shade smaller. The foliage is greyish green and very fine. Flowers are single, a golden yellow and almost two inches across. Clarkia, Larkspur and Marigolds are larger plants, but all are showy and easily grown. These three require from a foot to 18 inches between plants and should be placed about the centre of the flower bed, preferably in clumps. At the back, or for use as screens one can plant Cosmos or Sunflowers. These are late bloomers coming on in August and September. The garden sunflowers are much more ornamental than their cousins out in the corn field. Then there are Nasturtiums, Pansies and Sweet Peas which are well known. Most of these things are planted just as soon as the soil is fit to work, but any good seed catalogue or the packets themselves contain cultural directions in detail.

Winter Damage

It is not the intense cold of January but the fluctuating temperature of March and April which plays havoc among strawberries, fall wheat and clovers, not to mention perennial flowers, roses, shrubs and climbers. At noon when the sun is very strong the frost leaves the top of the soil and even the sap may start from the roots of shrubs and vines. But this is only temporary spring and at night when sun and temperature sink in unison the frost returns and the top crust of the soil is heaved, breaking off tiny roots. Or maybe the thaw at noon has resulted in pools of water in the crowns of perennial plants like Hollyhocks. These little pools freeze at night and in doing so split the tap root. Still again damage may be caused by cold, drying winds. To guard against this sort of thing the gardener is advised to sprinkle a light mulch of leaves, strawy manure of similar material over his plants or around the lower stems of shrubby, climbers and rose bushes.

Good Lawn Grass Seed Essential

As it is impossible to do much repairing to a lawn already established it is most important to get the very best seed. There is a great range in price here just as in tobacco because both products, in the commercial stage, are made up of blended mixtures, and absolutely depends on the proportion of the higher grade lines which go into the mixtures. A good lawn grass is composed of at least half a dozen grasses. Some of these are quick growers, which come along speedily the first year and protect the later starting, finer-stemmed, but really permanent grasses which will go to make up the lawn in the years to come. It is these permanent grasses which are the most expensive, but without a large proportion of them, the mixture will not make a satisfactory showing after the second year.

Before sowing it is essential to get the soil raked level. Allow a week to settle, and any weed seeds to germinate and then on a windless day sow at the rate of one pound per 200 square feet, going over the ground twice, once across and once lengthwise. Then rake lightly, one way only so as to merely cover the seed and if possible finish the job with a heavy roller or pounder. When the grass is up two inches commence mowing, using a very sharp machine so that there will be no danger of pulling out the young plants.

BLOW FROM BAT IS FATAL TO BOY

A blow on the head from a flying baseball bat that was not serious enough to halt school work two days earlier, proved fatal Thursday to Arthur Nerb, 14, of Black Mud school district, west of Leduc, according to information received.

The accident had occurred during the afternoon recess but the lad resumed studies and did not complain of a pain in the head until next day when he remained home from school. Death followed the second day.

There was a timid knock at the door.

"If you please, kind lady," said the beggar, "I've lost my right leg."

"Well," snapped the woman, as the door was slammed in his face, "I haven't got it."

CAUSES OF CANCER

(By Dr. William J. Scholes)

In approaching the question "What causes cancer?" it is necessary to first decide what a cancer really is. Reduced to simplest terms, it may be said that a cancer is a mass of cells of the lowest grade. Unlike most other so-called tumors, it has no membrane surrounding it. It has no nerve or blood supply.

The next proposition is to consider where a cancer is located. We find that it is always situated in parts of the body where there is epithelial tissue (the best example of this kind of tissue being the skin). Accordingly we find cancer in the lip, tongue, throat, stomach, uterus, intestines and breast.

Irritation or Injury—Cause

Proceeding to the next step in our process of reasoning, we find that the site of the cancer had either been subject to a continued mild irritation or had been subjected to an injury that was repaired with scar tissue.

Where cancer caused by a micro-organism, no age would be noticeably exempt. But what do we observe in this connection? That cancer is strictly a disease of middle life, and never occurs in children.

Assuming this theory to be true, let us see how it would work out in a given case. We know the scar tissue, which replaces normal tissue that has been destroyed is of low grade. On that assumption any scar tissue in the body that is subjected to continued irritation is liable to become cancerous. And once the process has been started, each succeeding generation of cells is more prolific than its forbears. The mass continues to enlarge through multiplication of its cells and, because it destroys everything in its path, it is called malignant.

Has No Blood Supply

After the mass has reached a given size, the central portion begins to break down, as it has no blood supply. The cells receive no nutrition and they die. The low vital resistance of the mass makes it a ready prey to the action of bacteria.

When that stage has been reached an operation is unavailing. It may prolong life, but that is all. The only way to remove cancer is to cut it out—and do it early.—(Copyright).

OWNER OF STALLED WAGON NOT TO BLAME

"If the law allows a horse-drawn vehicle to travel unlighted on a public highway, then, when it breaks down, I feel that the law will also allow it to remain there until fixed," stated Magistrate H. G. Scott, as he found Lawrence Holdsworth not guilty on a charge of "common nuisance."

It was alleged that Holdsworth left his hay rack on the Macleod trail in such a manner that an accident was caused and two persons were seriously injured, March 18th. Accused pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Holdsworth stated that he had left a light on the rack, and the end of a protruding piece of lumber had a red reflector on it. An approaching car crashed into the end of the timber as it swerved to avoid the rack.

The magistrate's opinion was that, if the vehicle could be driven along the roads unlighted and without protection, the fact that horses were not coupled or men sitting on the wagon at the time of the accident, would make little difference.—Calgary Herald.

UNIVERSITY COMPLETES 25 YEARS OF SERVICE

At the Convocation ceremonies to be held in May, the University of Alberta will have completed twenty-five years of service. In order to emphasize this event, a series of four lectures is being arranged by members of the staff, to be given in the last week of March and the first week of April, in which the development of thought during the last twenty-five years will be traced, and the part which universities have played will be indicated. The first lecture will be given by Dr. W. H. Alexander, who will deal with changing viewpoints in university life during the last quarter of a century, and will trace as well the evolution of the University of Alberta. The second lecturer will be Dr. E. K. Broadbent, who will discuss the changes in emphasis in the field of English literature during this period. In the third lecture the main aspects of scientific thought in the last quarter of a century will be evaluated by Dr. F. J. Lewis. The final lecture will be concerned with the spiritual values in the philosophical thought of the same period, and the lecturer will be Dr. J. M. MacBachern. The series of lectures will be given at the University.

A brochure is in course of preparation by members of the faculties, in which the fundamental contributions of the University of Alberta to the province and to scientific and literary thought will be outlined. It will deal with some phases of University history, with the services which graduates have performed, with the public services which the University undertakes, with the relationships to other universities and institutions of learning, and with the contributions to thought in science and the humanities which the University of Alberta has made over a period of a quarter of a century. The booklet will be issued before the twenty-fifth Convocation takes place in May of this year.

KING WHEAT AND WHAT HE CAN DO

A local citizen whose motive power is supplied by wheat, has whiled away the idle hours before seeding, in estimating the cost of a few of the knick-knacks of life. He is figuring out what he should sow this spring in order to ensure his circulation for the coming year, and being neither optimist nor pessimist, he bases his finding on wheat at 30 cts. a bushel or 1½ ct. a pound.

BEST FOR ADULTS, TOO

Beatty of the C.P.R. As Montrealeers Know Him

Reprinted from Montreal Daily Herald

Ed. Beatty is a quiet, back who studied law, but by a twist of fate, became a railway president.

Though he couldn't make the first string on the variety gridiron squad he had no difficulty with the C.P.R. and has played regularly ever since. They say it was Shaughnessy coaching him that turned the trick (Lord S. not Shag).

He is probably the shyest man in Canada.

The ladies admire him because he wears his hat over one eye and walks with a quarterback swagger. The fact that he is a bachelor and apparently intends to remain one provides a second element of "he sells quo!" to keep feminine hearts in a state of flutter.

Business men like him because he takes straight from the shoulder and has an uncanny talent for getting at the core of the most intricate problem.

The man in the street respects him because he preaches The Gospel of True Canadianism. Politicians fawn on him because he is the boss of the C. P. R. The Prince of Wales is another citizen who thinks Beatty is "all right," and His Royal Highness is always ready to prove it by officiating at the launching of a new C. P. R. ship.

Ordinary people respect him highly, and are sorry his railway is having a hard time.

As a youth he wanted to be a judge, but Fate intervened and sent him a job in the C. P. R.'s legal department. Young Beatty refused to regard this as his life-work, but ultimately had to decide in a hurry when the late Lord Shaughnessy sent for him and asked him to be a Vice-President.

Here is one version of what took place:

Beatty said "No!" "Tom" Shaughnessy fixed the young attorney with a stern eye and exclaimed, "My God, Beatty! Do you want to be a mere lawyer all your life?" Young Beatty smiled and took the job.

Some people think Mr. Beatty is hard to reach and tales are told of citizens who wait for weeks for the call to conference. Nevertheless he is the easiest man in the country to talk to, provided you can crash the outer office.

He is one of the few leading citizens who go in for Good Works in a Big Way without thought of publicity or praise. Not long ago the mother of an ex-Boys' Home youth who had lost his job in the States, was destitute and needed trainfare home in despair (telephoned to E. W. W. The Chairman and President of the C.P.R. came to the phone in person, discussed the case with the harassed mother, told her not to worry and instructed the C. P. R. official nearest to the boy to ship him back to his home, paying the fare out of his own pocket. These are the things which have won him a reputation for kindness and humanity.

He was born at Thorold, which Ontario people will tell you is situated in the Garden of Canada. He attended several schools in Toronto, and ultimately scratched his way into, through and out of, Toronto University and was called to the Ontario Bar. That was in 1901 and almost at once he went into the C.P.R.'s law department. He stayed there for thirteen years before becoming the company's General Counsel. In 1916 he was elected to the Board. In 1918 they made him President, when Lord Shaughnessy dropped one of his two portfolios. Six years later he added the title Chairman to his letterhead. Since then he has held both jobs and has had plenty of worries on his hands.

He thinks co-operative management will solve the railway problem. He does more travelling than many salesmen. To-day you will see him in Calgary. Next Tuesday he will be in Montreal. On Wednesday he will appear before the Railway Commission in the Capital. On Thursday you can talk with him by long distance to the Empress of Britain, outward bound. Wherever he goes he carries his work under his hat. When times were good it used to be written that he had the Biggest Industrial Job In The World. The job to-day is probably just as big but infinitely more arduous.

His continued good repute is largely due to the idea that he's got about that he is honest, honorable and, taking him by and large, a representative citizen of Canada as can be found between the two oceans.

And there is plenty of evidence to support the charge.

REDISTRIBUTION PLANS ADVANCED

Ottawa, March 31.—Redistribution of Federal ridings on the basis of the 1931 census is progressing favorably from one end of the country to the other, the House of Commons committee was told Tuesday. Subcommittees for each province indicated what progress had been made, pointed to stumbling blocks, and in a general way indicated what changes would be made.

Hon. H. A. Stewart, chairman of the main committee, expressed the hope the subcommittees would complete their work in a few days, making it possible to introduce in the house the redistribution bill before the end of the session.

Dr. G. D. Stanley (Cons.), Calgary East, said there were few difficulties in Alberta, and was upheld by Hon. Chas. Stewart (Lib.), Edmonton West.

GRINDING HOG FEED PAYS EXPERIMENT MAKES CLEAR

An experiment to compare whole and ground grain for hogs was started at the experimental station, Lacombe, in December. The results of this test are available now and provide interesting information.

The hogs were placed on test at an average weight of 90 pounds each. Those fed ground grain averaged 218 pounds in weight by March 16 and were well finished, while those fed whole grain averaged 187 pounds each and were decidedly lacking in finish. In fact those fed whole grain had to have their feed changed to ground grain in order to give them the proper finish required for select bacon hogs.

These hogs were fed a mixture of two parts barley to one of oats.

The results show that these grains should be ground if fed to hogs, but does not prove that grains such as wheat or peas that have no hull should be ground to give best results when cost of grinding is taken into consideration.

$70,165 TOTAL BUSINESS DONE AT BULL SALE

Calgary, March 31.—In three days of selling, 638 bulls of the beef breeds went through the auction ring at the Calgary Spring Shows, under guidance of W. J. Durso, Matt Hasson and Clarence Dameron, to realize a total of $70,165, or an average of $110.

The Hereford breed topped the sale with 364 selling for an average of $123.04. Aberdeen-Angus stood second with 68 animals, realizing an average of $100.05; two Red Polls averaged $100, and 214 Shorthorns averaged $90.07.

In the opinion of stockmen who have followed the Calgary Spring sales for a period of years, the 1933 event, having in mind prevalent conditions in livestock circles, constitutes a most satisfactory record.

Paste the following information in your hat: Holidays occur in 1933 as follows: Good Friday, April 14; Easter Monday, April 17, which is only a bank holiday; Victoria Day, Wednesday May 24th; King's Birthday, Saturday, June 3rd; Dominion Day, Saturday, July 1st; Labor Day, Monday, September 4th; Remembrance Day, Saturday, Nov. 11th; Christmas Day, Monday, Dec. 25th. It will be noted that most of the holidays fall on either Saturday or Monday this year, which gives long week-ends for gadding.

Banish Bothersome Boils By Cleansing the Blood

Boils are caused by impurities in the blood and are simply an evidence that bad blood is circulating through the system and coming to the surface.

The one way to get rid of this painful blood disease is to give the blood a thorough cleansing by using Burdock Blood Bitters, which removes the foul material and thereby banishes the boils.

Mr. John Horley, Halford, Sask., writes: "For over two years I was troubled with boils. I tried all kinds of medicine without any result. A friend told me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. Just one bottle and the boils were all gone."
